Westminster Village Resident Spotlight

“My husband, Jack, and I moved to Westminster Village on March 25, 2011, after I had spent some time in Westminster’s Health Center. We came with a wonderful knowledge of Westminster. I did my Ball State student teaching at Burriss, in the Kindergarten class under Miss Broyton. A few years later, when Jack joined a law firm in Muncie, Miss Broyton and I became friends again. She moved, with my help, into Westminster on the very first day they were open. I appreciated Westminster then and have loved the life here for 10 years. The walks, the pond, the beautiful grounds with all the flowers, and the graceful swans. And now there are eight babies! Jack’s mother moved into Westminster Village from Lebanon, Indiana and she enjoyed a full life here for 10 years. Jack passed away in April of 2015 and I miss him terribly but life changed for me when I took the Chairmanship of the Next-to-New Shoppe and I have enjoyed that for seven years. Life has been good to me here at Westminster Village!!” – Emma Lee Slagle and her husband, Jack, were from Lebanon, Indiana. Jack spent several years in the Army, four years at Purdue, and three years at IU. Emma Lee graduated from Ball State and taught kindergarten for six years before they were married. After marriage, she taught two years and then taught phonics in her home for twenty five years. During the COVID-19 restrictions at Westminster, Emma Lee made a full size bed quilt. She also enjoys outside activities, Tri Kappa, her bridge club, visiting with friends and wonderful neighbors. Emma Lee and Jack have three children: One attended Purdue, one IU and one attended Ball State.

Westminster can’t thank Emma Lee enough for all of her hard work and dedication to Westminster’s Next-To-New Shoppe. She has decided to retire her position at the end of August. Thank you Emma Lee for a job well done!*

Senior Moments, Been There...Done That!

Britain's greatest World War II general, Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery, attended a 1946 dinner given in his honor in Hollywood by MGM's Samuel Goldwyn. Famous for his senior moments, Goldwyn began his introduction ably: "It gives me great pleasure tonight to welcome to Hollywood a very distinguished soldier." He then raised his glass and said to the gathering of celebrities, "Ladies and gentlemen, I propose a toast to... Marshal Field Montgomery." There was a stunned silence, since Marshal Field was a famous department store in Chicago. Into the breach came another mogul with a bad memory, Jack Warner of Warner Brothers, who called out helpfully, "Montgomery Ward, you mean."

Westminster Village Welcomes Cygnets

On Wednesday, May 5th, the Westminster swans, Bonnie and Clyde, became parents to eight new babies, called cygnets. By Thursday, Bonnie had the little ones paddling around in the water. The cygnets stay close to their mother for security and warmth. The many lessons that Bonnie will teach her babies has begun.
